How do you know if your kangertech evod is charging

When the Kanger Evod battery power is low, the LED will flash approximately 15 times when the button is pressed to indicate that the battery needs to be charged. The Kanger Evod battery can be charged by removing the attached clearomiser/atomiser, which then exposes the thread on the end of the battery. Connect the battery to the charger by bringing the threads together and turning in a clockwise direction. Next, holding the charging lead, plug the small end (mini USB plug) into the battery and the other end (standard USB) into a USB charging port. The USB charging port can be found on a mains adapter (see below), or a USB port on a personal computer. When the battery is plugged into a charging source, the LED light within the battery switch/button will flash a number of times and then the CHARGER will show either red to indicating 'charging' or green to indicate 'charged' Depending upon the charge within the battery, it could take up to 4 hours to fully charge the battery. Batteries are part of modern everyday life and we take them for granted - but all batteries can be very dangerous if proper precautions are not observed. Be sure to use the recommended battery for your device. Don't assume that just because a battery fits, it's okay to use. Check with the manufacturer or supplier. Store in a cool place, avoiding direct sunlight. For example, it may sound obvious, but do not leave batteries or electronic cigarettes on the windowsill, fireplace, oven, radiator or car dashboard! Loose batteries should have their contacts protected by storing in original packaging. Charging Batteries Always use the correct charger for the battery you are charging - ALWAYS! NEVER use an iPhone or other charger - they may output too much current and cause batteries to overheat or explode. USB 3 ports (as found on video consoles and newer PCs and laptops) should NOT BE USED as they have at least double the output of a standard USB port. If in doubt, do not use! When charging, place batteries on a hard surface such as a kitchen worktop, NOT on the carpet or other combustible surface. Avoid leaving batteries unattended whilst charging, keep an eye on them and cease charging before retiring to bed. Do not try to charge damaged batteries. If charging high drain unprotected batteries, be sure to use a suitable charger with auto cut off. Do not over charge or over discharge batteries - cease charging as soon as they are fully charged and charge before empty. If a battery becomes hot during charging - STOP CHARGING and allow to cool down before handling further. Rest after charging - let them cool fully before using, ideally for a few hours. Disposing of BatteriesPlease do not simply throw dead or damaged batteries in the waste bin - dispose of batteries carefully, by taking to one of the following locations: Local authority recycling plant or 'tip' - UK recycle centres near you - Often local supermarkets offer a battery disposal point. If you don't prime your atomizer before you go to use it, all of the dry wick material inside of the atomizer will burn up and the coil will be damaged, possibly requiring a new one. There are a couple different ways to prime your atomizer, one way to do so is before you fill up your tank, drip 3-5 drops of e liquid directly into the top of the atomizer and while that soaks in you can also add a drop onto each piece of wick you see poking out of the side of the atomizer. This method ensures that the atomizer is fully saturated before use but if you are in a hurry or don't have any e liquid with you besides what is in your tank, there is another way to prime. For the other method of priming, all you do is replace the old atomizer with the new, reassemble your tank, then without applying any power to the Kangertech EVOD battery, take at least 5 strong pulls on the mouth piece. This will help pull some of the e-liquid in your tank down into the atomizer, saturating the wick. It is possible to get too much e-liquid into the atomizer initially and it could end up "flooding" the atomizer, this can cause e liquid to spit up through the mouth piece or to be leaked out through the bottom of the tank - but again if you don't put enough, the atomizer could get burnt up right away. It's kind of a balancing game of how much e liquid you need to use to prime your atomizer, but after a few go's at it, you should be able to do it in a snap with no problems. Flooding and Leaking issues Over priming and certain environmental elements can cause your atomizer to flood or your tank to leak. Elevation changes, extreme warmth or cold and over/under tightening are all instances that can cause these issues. Although a small amount of leaking is completely normal and to be expected, occasionally you may experience some major leaking issues. If this occurs, disassemble your vape pen and wipe all the e liquid off of it, make sure to get the top of the battery where the tank connects, if too much e liquid gets in there or it's left for too long, the EVOD battery can be damaged possibly beyond repair. Before reassembling try to think about what caused it to happen in the first place, ask yourself questions like was your tank over/under tightened, are you traveling into a major altitude change, was it left in too warm of an environment, ETC... With the power of deduction you should be able to figure out why it happened and from there you can reassemble your vape pen and hopefully prevent it from occurring again right away. If your atomizer is flooded, whether it is coinciding with leaking issues or just from over priming your coil, there are a few things you can do to help it dry out a little. One trick is to flip your vape pen upside down so that the juice isn't flowing down into the atomizer. After you've got your device upside down, hold the button to fire your Kangertech EVOD battery and blow into the airflow holes, this will help shoot all the excess e liquid out of the mouth piece. Another way you can get the atomizer to dry out a little more is to disassemble your vape pen all the way, then wrap your atomizer in a tissue and give it a good shake. Flooding and leaking issues can be a pain to deal with especially when you're so used to just lighting up a cigarette and that's that, but hang in there cause once you get a handle on these issues you can continue your endeavor to successfully quit smoking cigarettes. I haven't been able to find them for some time. I was so glad to find them at Vapor Authority! These are quality products, packaged well and shipped quickly at a very reasonable price! Thank you!
